This report is not just a reflection of our work it is a testament to our unwavering commitment to social justice and inclusive development. Over the past year, our efforts have remained firmly rooted in our mission to uplift the most marginalized and vulnerable communities. Each step forward has been guided by a shared purpose to bring dignity, opportunity and hope to those who need it most.

This past year has been one of dedication, resilience and meaningful impact. Our commitment to social transformation and community empowerment has been the cornerstone of every initiative we have undertaken. Through the tireless efforts of our Director, Rev. Fr. Pious Philip, dedicated staff, volunteers, and partners, UKSVK has made significant strides in rural development, women's empowerment, sustainable agriculture and education.

One of the most inspiring highlights of the year has been the successful implementation of the SAFAL Project (Women Empowerment Through Access to Livelihood and Rights & Entitlements). This initiative has empowered hundreds of women by promoting sustainable agricultural practices, enhancing their skills, and enabling them to generate a stable and dignified livelihood. Through SAFAL, we have not only improved food security at the household level but also strengthened the socio-economic position of women in their communities. The transformation we have witnessed in their confidence, independence and leadership is truly heartening.

Director's Message

This year has been extraordinary in many ways a reflection of the unwavering dedication of our team, the generosity of our donors, and our steadfast commitment to UKSVK's mission.

I begin by expressing my deepest gratitude to our exceptional staff. Throughout the year, they have shown remarkable resilience and dedication, often going above and beyond in the face of significant challenges. Their tireless efforts have truly made a lasting difference.

Our heartfelt thanks also go to our donors, whose steadfast support has been the backbone of our work. Their generosity has enabled us to continue reaching out to marginalized communities, bringing hope, opportunity, and lasting change to those who need it most.

A key milestone this year was the successful completion of the Saffal Project. This transformative initiative had a profound impact not only on improving livelihoods but also in promoting natural and organic farming practices and fostering sustainable agriculture. Through training, capacity-building, and access to eco-friendly resources, the project empowered farmers to shift toward environmentally responsible farming methods. These efforts have not only improved income stability but have also contributed to soil health, biodiversity, and long-term food security laying the foundation for a more resilient rural economy.

We are also committed to continuously improving our systems, policies, and practices. At UKSVK, we uphold the highest standards of transparency, accountability, and ethics to ensure that our work remains effective and trustworthy.

I would also like to acknowledge and thank our Diocesan Partners. Their collaboration and shared commitment have been instrumental in advancing our mission. Their unwavering support continues to inspire and energize our efforts.

In closing, this year has been a powerful testament to what we can achieve together. With the commitment of our staff, the support of our donors, and the partnership of our diocesan allies, UKSVK is well-positioned to create an even greater impact in the years to come.

FOREWORD

As we step into another year, UKSVK embarks on a heartfelt journey, embracing a myriad of endeavors to propel our mission forward and breathe life into our vision. Our strategies and actions, driven by the noble principle of uplifting the underprivileged through inclusive community engagement, are meticulously sculpted. Every effort is imbued with sincerity, aimed at empowering individuals to actively shape the tapestry of development.

In the tapestry of time, the UKSVK Forum emerges as a beacon of hope, solidifying its stance as a regional force dedicated to amplifying the echoes of public service. We stand firm in our pledge to foster cooperation and forge partnerships as the cornerstone of our growth. Throughout the year, our endeavors have been centered around fortifying livelihoods, weaving a safety net of food security for the marginalized, and weaving threads of connectivity to various social safety nets. We champion the cause of women, igniting flames of empowerment in their livelihood pursuits, safeguarding their rights, championing equal opportunities, and nurturing their full participation in the fabric of society through a tapestry of rights-based interventions.

In the heartlands of our projects, SAFFAL (Sustainable Options for Uplifting Livelihood) stands as a testament to our dedication, a beacon of hope illuminating the path towards enhanced livelihoods for the marginalized. Through nurturing capacities in farming and non-farming methods, as well as fostering the growth of livestock, we sow seeds of transformation. Moreover, we cultivate bonds of community through the establishment of Community Interest Groups (CIGs), Self-Help Groups (SHGs), and Village Development Committees (VDCs), weaving intricate webs of connectivity that link them with financial institutions, nurturing the buds of income-generating activities.

In the ever-evolving landscape of development, we embrace the challenge with unwavering resolve, knowing that the transformation of concepts into action is not just a possibility, but a promise. Our ethos revolves around convergence, not discord. Each endeavor we embark upon signifies not merely an end, nor even the beginning of the end, but rather the end of the beginning—an invitation to a journey of perpetual growth and progress. With each step, we pledge ourselves to achieve even greater feats in the days to come, propelled by the momentum of our ongoing interventions.

Through a concerted effort, beneficiaries have witnessed a significant increase in income, driven by the adoption of organic farming practices and engagement in various income-generating activities. Our project's emphasis on capacity building, particularly within Community Interest Groups, has empowered communities to access government schemes and services more effectively. The agricultural landscape has undergone a notable shift, with farmers demonstrating enhanced capabilities and embracing horticulture as a lucrative avenue for additional income. Kitchen gardening techniques have not only diversified revenue streams for small-scale farmers but also served as invaluable learning experiences. Women, in particular, have emerged as key beneficiaries, benefiting from increased access to government initiatives and actively participating in programs that contribute to positive community outcomes. The collaborative efforts of stakeholders have played a pivotal role in the success of our project, enabling it to address the multifaceted needs of marginalized communities and drive sustainable development.

Our project stands as a testament to the pivotal role of capacity building and institutional empowerment, particularly among rural women, in sculpting sustainable economic landscapes within communities.

As we present this Annual Report with a sense of profound satisfaction and pride, we extend our heartfelt gratitude to the multitude of individuals, well-wishers, and allies—be they from government agencies or beyond—who have graced us with their invaluable guidance, grants, insights, and expertise. To our collaborators, whose unwavering support has been the bedrock of our endeavors, we owe a debt of gratitude beyond measure.

In essence, the interventions orchestrated by UKSVK in our target regions stand as beacons of success, forged through tireless dedication and an unyielding commitment to replicate proven models of agricultural innovation and technological advancement. Our efforts extend beyond mere cultivation; they encompass a holistic approach to empowerment, equipping women with the knowledge of agricultural technologies, enriching their experiences through exposure visits, and nurturing their capacities through concerted capacity-building endeavors. Through these multifaceted initiatives, we strive not only to foster profitable farming and sustainable income generation but also to illuminate the path toward poverty alleviation and inclusive growth.

IMPACT OF THE PROJECT

- ✓ Encouraging farmers to transition towards organic methods and promoting sustainable agricultural practices not only yields environmental benefits but also enhances the livelihoods of community members. Establishing robust linkages with government bodies and stakeholders is essential for ensuring the sustainability and scalability of such initiatives. This strategic collaboration ensures the effective utilization of resources and facilitates efficient knowledge sharing, ultimately fostering long-term agricultural sustainability and prosperity within the community.
- ✓ This holistic approach to community empowerment through knowledge dissemination and collaboration sets a strong foundation for long-term development and prosperity.
- ✓ The project's impact on socio-economic standing suggests that individuals, particularly women, have experienced empowerment through increased participation in decision-making processes. This empowerment not only enhances individual agency but also contributes to the overall development and resilience of the community.
- ✓ Increased awareness about rights and government schemes suggests a more informed citizenry. This awareness can lead to greater demand for accountability, transparency, and better governance practices. It may result in improvements such as better implementation of welfare schemes, increased access to justice. A total of 7226 beneficiaries benefited Rs 3,37,28,791 from different government schemes.
- ✓ Economic diversification, especially with the active participation of women in income-generating activities, can have several positive effects on economic growth and societal well-being. By expanding the range of livelihood opportunities, communities become more resilient to economic shocks and less dependent on a single sector or source of income. Moreover, women's participation in the economy can lead to increased household income, improved standards of living, and greater gender equality. This can also foster entrepreneurship, innovation, and overall economic dynamism.

Success Stories

“Moo-ving Forward: Mrs. Bano's Journey to Economic Empowerment”

Mrs. Bano's journey epitomizes the transformative potential of community support and access to resources, as demonstrated by the Saffal project initiated by UKSVK. Despite facing financial constraints due to her husband's modest income as an agricultural laborer, Mrs. Bano's life took a positive turn through the intervention of this impactful initiative.

Engaging with the project, Mrs. Bano became an integral part of a women's group dedicated to savings and skill-building, which proved to be a lifeline in her journey. This supportive network not only provided financial assistance but also equipped its members with invaluable knowledge in areas such as animal husbandry and government schemes.

A pivotal moment arrived when Mrs. Bano discovered the Pashu Supudh Yojana, a government scheme for livestock management, during an enlightening interface meeting facilitated by the Saffal team. With their guidance, she swiftly enrolled in the scheme and acquired a cow from a local shelter.

Through diligent care and the expertise gained from training, Mrs. Bano's cow began yielding 10 liters of milk daily-an impressive feat that significantly bolstered her household income. Leveraging her newfound expertise, she struck a deal with a local milkman, ensuring a steady stream of revenue for her family.

Furthermore, Mrs. Bano started receiving monthly care charges from the government, providing an additional financial boost to her endeavors. With these earnings, she not only sustains her household but also prioritizes the well-being of her cow by investing in high-quality feed, ensuring its continued productivity.

Mrs. Bano's story serves as a poignant reminder of the power of information, resources, and supportive networks in empowering individuals to surmount financial challenges. Her deep appreciation for Team UKSVK echoes the profound impact their assistance has had on her journey towards economic stability and self-reliance.

Paving the Way: Empowering Nagla Khutiya Through Collective Action

For the past three years, our organization has been deeply engaged in transforming communities across ten villages in Mathura, and among these villages, Nagla Khutiya has emerged as a shining example of collective empowerment. Through our Saffal project, we catalyzed the formation of self-help groups in Nagla Khutiya, uniting 20 dedicated women with a shared commitment to enhancing their lives and the welfare of their village. These groups spearheaded savings programs, nurturing financial independence among their members.

During monthly meetings and various training sessions, the women were apprised of the group's initiatives, engaging in discussions to tackle pressing village issues like inadequate electricity, water supply, educational shortcomings, and the need for employment opportunities. Additionally, two groups from the village-Jai Bhim Self Help Group and Gaura Self Help Group-each comprising 10 women, were linked to the block, broadening their impact and reach.

During one such meeting, a member highlighted the persistent challenge facing Nagla Khutiya: the dilapidated condition of its roads, posing hardships to school-going children and other villagers, especially during the monsoon season. In August 2023, spurred by a collective resolve, the group resolved to address this issue by drafting an application for road construction. Seema, the group treasurer, and her peers diligently prepared the application during the meeting, garnering signatures from all group members.

They subsequently presented the application to the village head, expressing their concerns and seeking clarity on the timeline for road construction. The village head, assuring them of prioritizing the project once funding was secured, welcomed their proactive approach.

Following the allocation of the budget a few months later, construction of the road in Nagla Khutiya commenced promptly, and within a mere two days, the road was transformed. The village erupted in jubilation, expressing profound gratitude to the women of the self-help group. Recognizing that this achievement was made possible through the Saffal project's implementation and the guidance of its staff, the villagers and SHG members alike acknowledged that without their support, addressing this longstanding issue would have been improbable. Today, the residents of Nagla Khutiya enjoy smoother commutes, and the success story of their road stands as a testament to the power of collective action and community empowerment.

2. STRENGTHENING THE CAPABILITIES OF DIOCESAN SOCIAL SERVICE SOCIETY'S STAFF & TO IMPROVE THEIR COMPETENCE AND BRING SUSTAINABILITY

Ensuring safety is paramount, particularly for those directly impacted by our efforts. By implementing this policy, we create an environment where all employees can work without apprehension, fostering a culture of security and support. This initiative will not only fortify the organization but also provide invaluable assistance to staff facing challenges in the field. Through the formulation and adoption of a safeguarding policy, we empower our team and field staff to execute their duties more effectively.
